

Longview Tax

Longview Tax delivers the most comprehensive Tax Technology system, with the expertise to solve your tax data challenges and manage your end-to-end tax cycle

Tax Challenge

Global corporations face severe challenges in trying to manage, control and make sense of enormous volumes of tax data spread across disparate systems. Many tax departments still rely on manual, time-consuming methods, making transparency and efficiencies difficult to achieve. As close deadlines continue to tighten, more and more CFOs, controllers and tax executives are looking for an end-to-end technology solution for the global accounting of income taxes.

Longview Tax

Longview Tax delivers the transparency and accuracy demanded by tax authorities, auditors, and corporate stakeholders, from CEOs to finance executives to shareholders. Longview's proven technology gives tax departments the tools needed to manage the vast volumes of tax data generated by today's enterprises and streamlines tax processes for maximum efficiency.

The Longview data hub centralizes and consolidates tax-sensitized data for both direct and indirect taxes, providing a single data source for all of your analysis and reporting tasks.

Capturing your tax sensitive data at the source and managing it separately from the traditional financial close process provides Tax with greater flexibility around modelling, querying and analyzing of their tax specific data.

With Longview Tax, the database structures are tax based, providing full reporting flexibility for tax and eliminating the need to keep additional workpapers in Excel. By providing a single source for all tax data, Longview Tax enables them to support every aspect of tax data management and helps tax teams achieve rapid and sustainable gains in efficiency, transparency and auditability.

Longview Tax automates even your most complex calculations, simplifying global tax accounting and eliminating riskyspreadsheet-based activities. All while centralizing and accelerating your most important tax departmental processes. Longview Tax gives you the tools needed to help your business achieve its most important goals.
